nce upon a time in the small town of Norwell, there lived ninety-six little girls and boys. For many years these children spent their days laughing, learning, and playing at their schools - Cole, Sparrell, and Vinal. However there came a day when these children -not so little any more - merged together. These junior high years were times of growing, changing, and maturing. There were the unforgettable Friday night 4-H dances, the infamous ski trips, and even days with silent lunches. And just as the children were adjusting to their new school, it came time for yet another change - high school, four years filled with work, memories, friendships, and fun. There were games to be won, plays to be performed, and concerts to be held; Saturday Football games to attend, Homecomings and Proms. There were square-dancing gym classes and dreaded exams, anticipated long weekends and snow days. Through it all this class has grown together and laughed together, worked together and stuck together.

And now as this class prepares for their next journey, they collectively pause and reflect on the trail they have just traveled. . .

The Fairytale Ball '96

Once in a land far away at the Ritter Country Club, a king and queen were crowned. The king, Matt Jacobs, and the queen, Amy Leckinger, were surrounded by their royal court, Jill McCoy and Alicia Spradlin. The king and queen's subjects joined in the celebration and a good time was had by all!

The Pink Panther Returns!

Led by actor Peter Lukow as Detective Clouseau, and directed by Pamela Wolfe, the drama club once again produced a hit show with "The Pink Panther Returns". Produced during the spring of 1996, this tale of an escaped mental patient who is followed by Detective Clouseau, entertained audiences of all ages. What made it more spectacular was the all-star cast put together from the Norwell High School drama club. The cameo appearances alone made it a must see. Whether it was the cool Cairo Fred (Barry Neely), the evasive Panthers, (Jessica Lang, Stephanie Hughes, Amanda Reardon, Holly Brese, Charlotte Wolfe, Sarai King, Brenda Reynolds, Meghan O'Connor, Katie Dawy-shiba, Joanna Dunbar) or even the occasional Elvis sighting (Jeffrey Clarke) everyone made this a must-see performance.

New recruits to Norwell's chapter of the National Honor Society were exhorted to maintain the exemplary citizenship by which they were elected to the chapter. Speakers were Principal B. Marshman, advisor A. Rosenberg, and President J. Scopel-letti.

JUNIOR/SENIOR CRUISE

SPIRIT WEEK '96

Homecoming

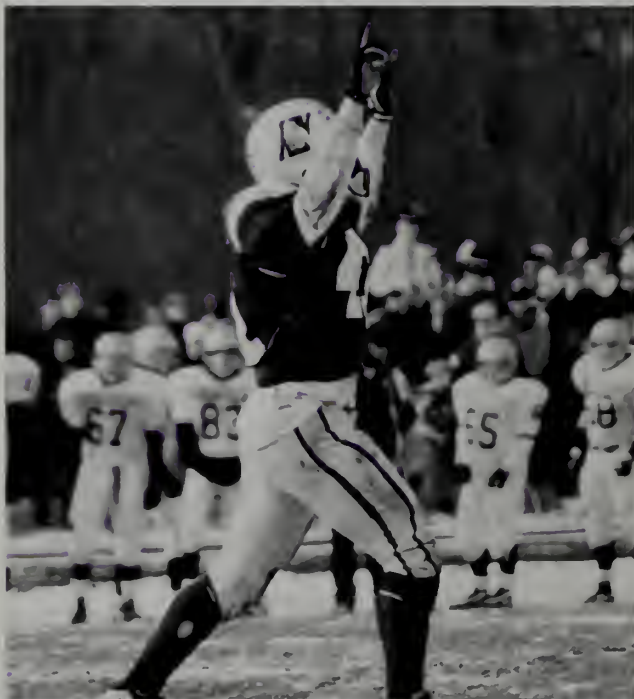

The 1996 Homecoming Weekend was especially noteworthy, for the court which consisted of freshmen Stacey Lindsay and Kevin Perry, sophomores Lindsey Kasabian and Kevin Kavanaugh, juniors Natasha Kelly and Brooks Buitta and seniors Seana Toomey, Matt Lewis, Amy Kavanaugh, Allan Vacha, Sue Sabadini, and Alex Waldron had to ride in the "buffed" cars along the grass. Later that night, the students danced away in the gym and watched as Alex Waldron and Amy Kavanaugh were crowned King and Queen.

Powder Puff Pep Rally Football Game

Norwell High School had much to be thankful for during Thanksgiving week '96. The senior girls during the annual Powder Puff game once again defeated their junior opponents to become the only team in Norwell Powder Puff history to repeat as victors. The Pep-rally roared with pounding beats from the NHS band and the in-house band, Thermos. As always, the skits proved to be better than ever, and the crowd rallied around the football team. The loyalty towards the team showed as the underdog Clippers pounded the Hanover Indians into the solid, snow-covered ground by a resounding score of 17-0. Congratulations to all for making Thanksgiving '96 at Norwell High School a memorable one.

Bye Bye Birdie

The Drama Club for its fall production presented yet another stupendous hit. Audiences laughed and cheered as Dave Blair starred as Conrad Birdie in the famous musical, Bye Bye Birdie. Blair led an all-star cast in this performance about a famous music star who basks in his last spotlight before going off to war. Other key performances in this Norwell Drama Club sensation were by Emily Dennis, Richard Brickman and Elisabeth Ryan. Congratulations to the Drama Club for another dramatic blockbuster.

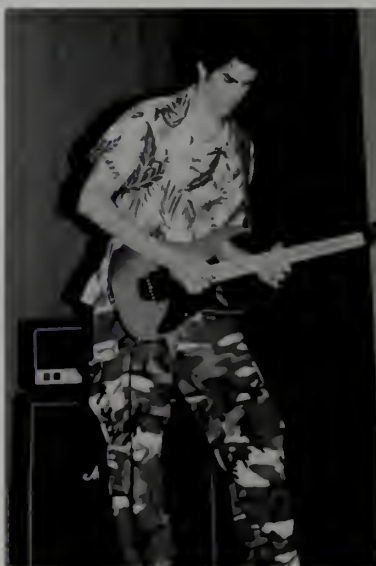

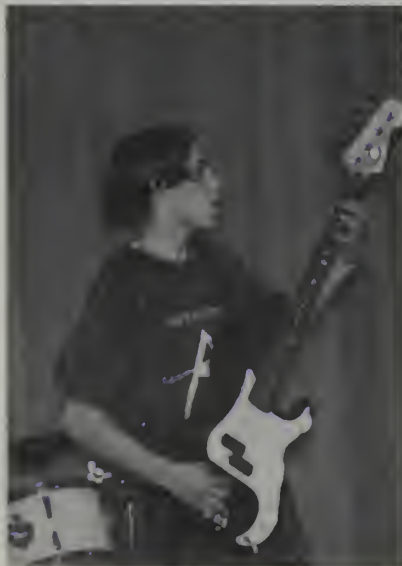

GLOBE SANTA Concert 1996

Christmas Week

The Senior Auction

After a year's hiatus the Senior Auction once again returned to its glory in December of 1996. Whether it was large bidding wars for Beanie Babies, or astronomical prices paid for the traditional and always popular blind dates, a great time was had by all. And the senior class especially found the auction pleasing because of the large revenue it generated for end of the year activities.

Winter Concert 1996

The band and chorus performed festive holiday music and Christmas classics, along with a few twists, to a full crowd.

Mock Trial

Justice may be blind, but the Mock Trial team has tried to open its eyes. Advised by Mr. Farrow, the team has battled over the case given to them by the Massachusetts Bar Association. This year's case involved a civil suit in which one family sued another over the wrongful death of their son. The plaintiffs had to show that the defense's clients – Lee, Robin and Jody Rivers – were liable in the death of Ralph Babson, who died by choking on his own vomit after binge drinking. Lawyers and witnesses for both sides argued and competed with other schools in front of real judges. Even though there were closings done on the way to trial, velcro shoes, forgetful witnesses, and long trips to Wareham District Court to hear that there would be no trial, everyone learned a lot and had fun doing so.

The winter season for Norwell High was extended by the participation of the track teams, the wrestling team, and the basketball teams in the state tournament. Alex Waldron placed second and Steve Ware placed fourth in the State Wrestling Meet. Both were South Shore League All-Stars. Seniors Kevin Dawyskiba, Jim O'Brien, and Eric Kelley also placed in their respective weight classes. After a great season, going 16-0 in the South Shore League, the Girls' Basketball team was seeded second in Division Three. The team faced Rockland in a packed Norwell gym, but could not hang on for the win. The Boys' team qualified for tournament with a late season winning streak. The team beat Westwood in the first round, however lost to Rockland in a tough match up. The track teams each had their share of members qualify for the State meet. Boys who qualified included Chad Hunt, John Stewart, Chris MacNeil, Eric Bowman, and Andrew Chin. The Girls' team placed fifth overall, and a standout performance was had by Amanda Laban who won the 1000 meter. Other girls that qualified were Kate Dorney, Kara Angeloni, Kate Finkens-taedt, Lesley Donoghue, Holly Aprea, Natasha Kelly, and Jen Ewart.

Drama Festival

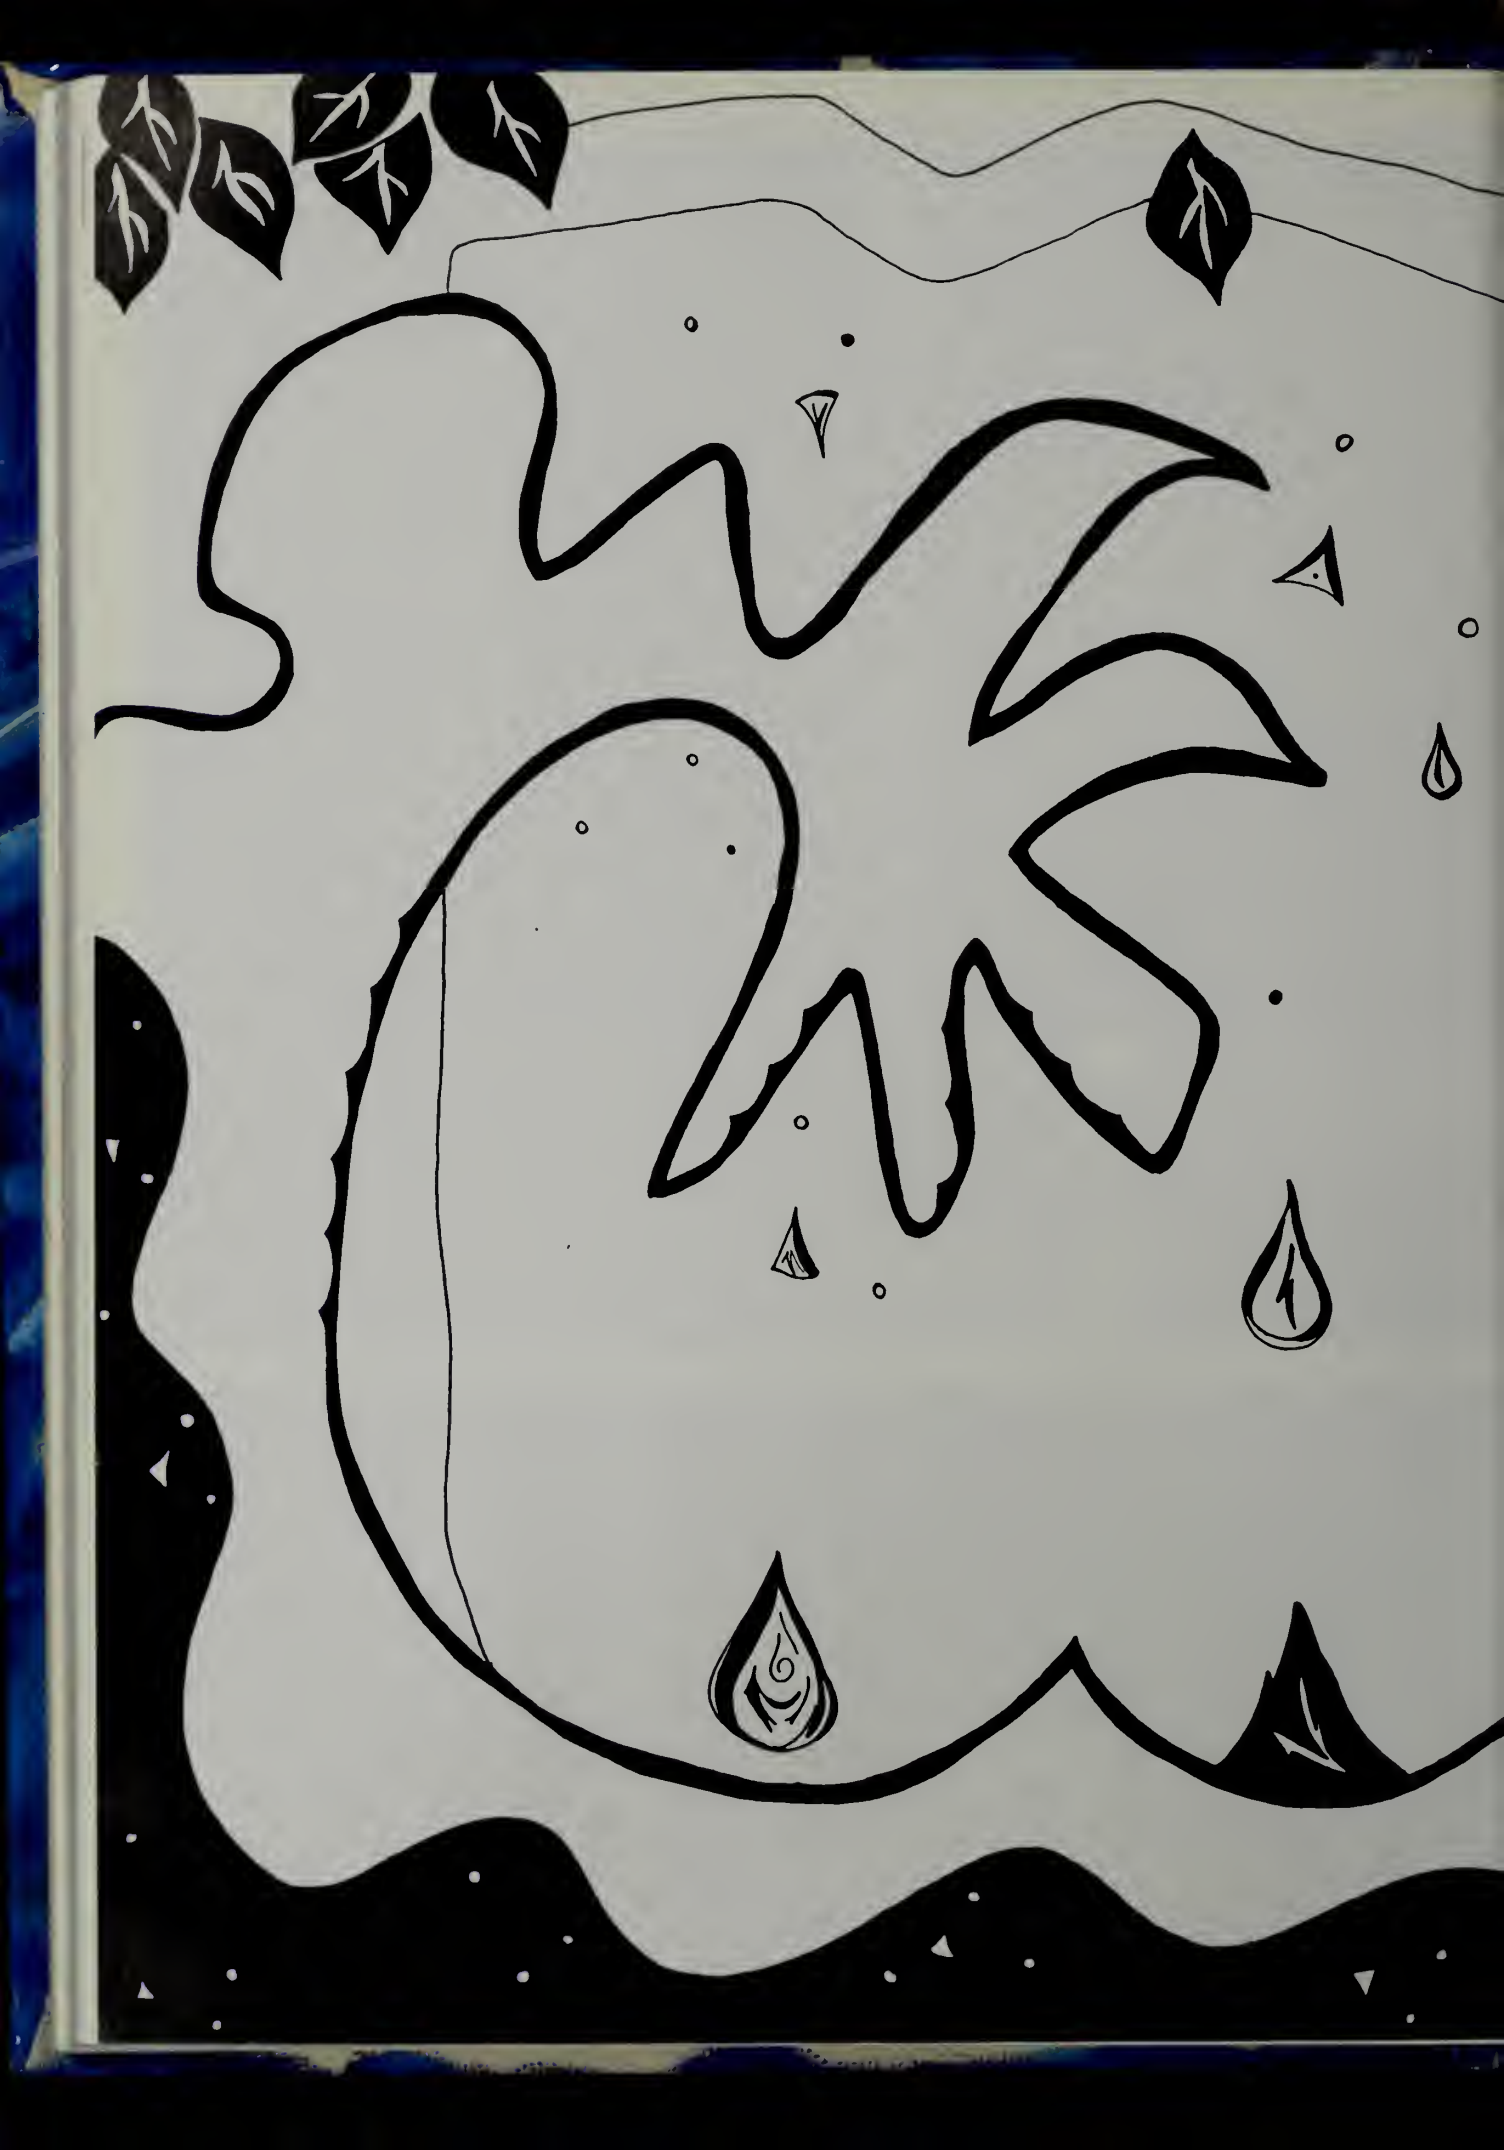

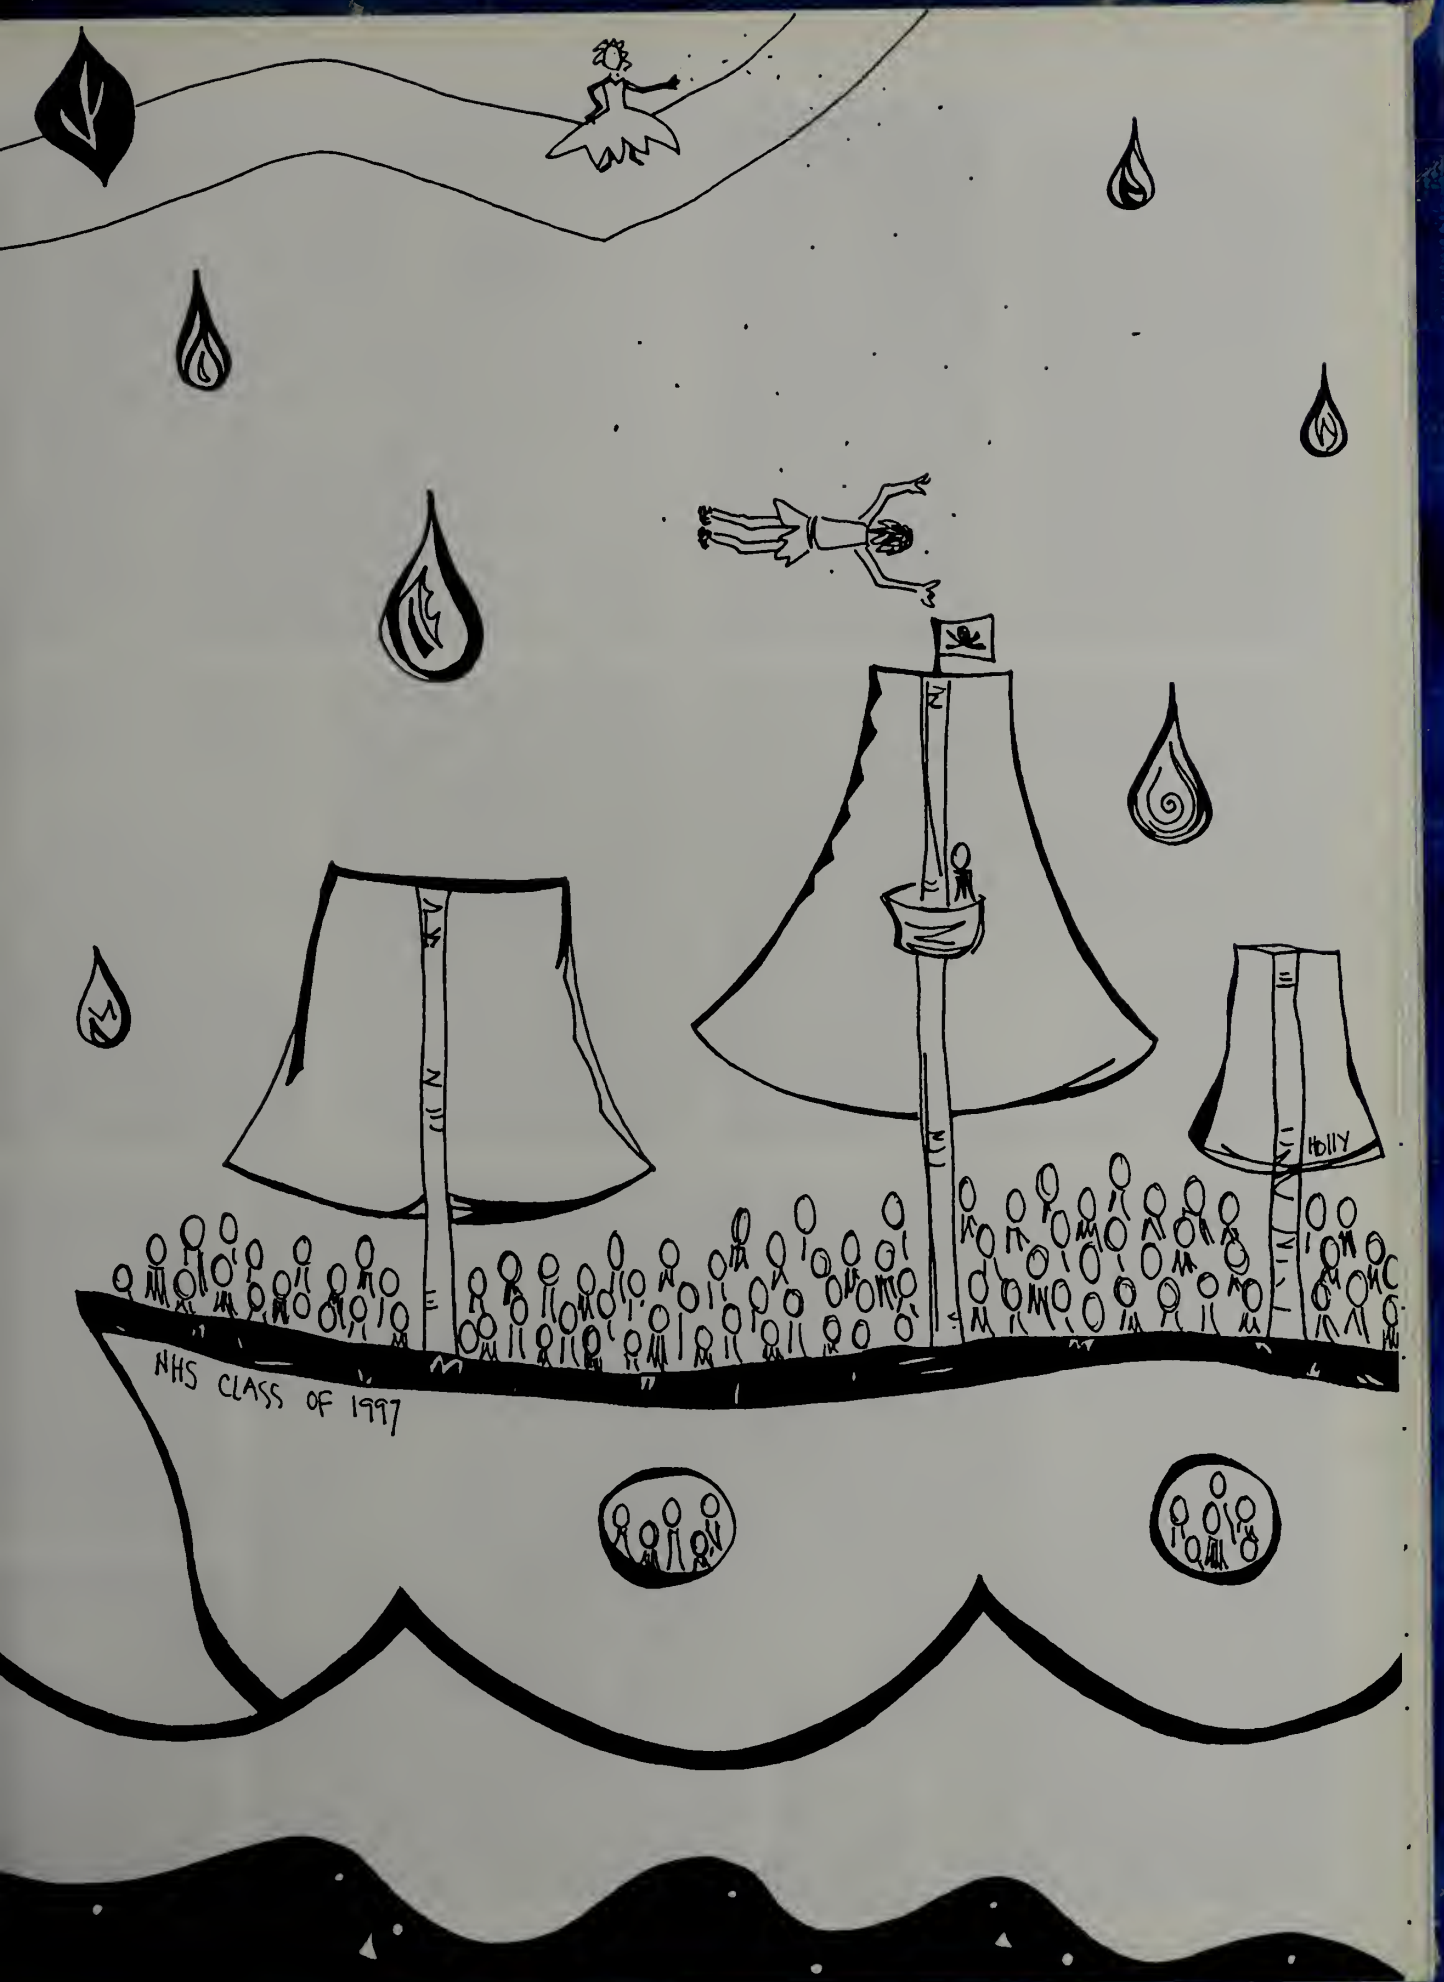

The Science Fair

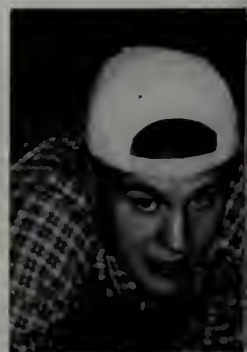

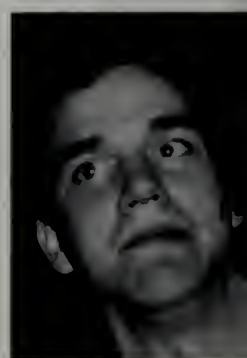

Despite a power failure which left the high school powerless for an hour, the 1997 Science Fair proceeded on schedule. Although participation set a new record high, the large number of judges allowed the projects to be evaluated quickly. First place was awarded to Sean Meyer, second to Alex Gordon, third to Jacquelyn Kelliher, fourth to Christine Connolly, and fifth to Lisa Toth.

All-star Katie Laubinger and junior standout Jen Neves sparked the offense. Catcher, Erin Gibbons, Jan Marie O'Donnell and outfielders Liz Weber, Lynsey Fitzgerald and Cara McHugh played solidly all season. With the loss of only three seniors, Norwells future looks bright. With Jill McCoy on the mound again, the team will try to avenge its second round tournament loss to Cardinal Spellman.

In their first year of varsity competition, and only their second year of existence, the Norwell High School lacrosse team made great strides towards becoming a dominant team in Eastern Massachusetts. Choosing to play a tough schedule, the Clippers beat all of the teams they played that were also first year varsity teams, missing the tournament by only three games in the process. With no seniors the team was led by junior captains Mike Brosnahan, Kevin Dawyskiba, Randy Holmes, and Scott MacDonald.

Football

Once again, the Norwell football team completed another successful season. Despite the stiff competition of the South Shore League, the team was able to finish at 4-5. One memorable victory was their first game against Archbishop Williams (Norwell's first night game!). The team was carried by senior captains Jim O'Brien, Kevin Dawyskiba, Randy Holmes, Matt Lewis, and Steve Ware, as well as junior quarterback Brian Doherty and sophomore Brian Falzizio. Next year also looks promising with many talented young players returning.

The girl's varsity soccer team completed a successful season, under the coaching of Emo. Under the senior leadership of Amanda Laban, Meg Barao, Katie Dorney, Amy Barao, Sue Sabadini, Karen Spitz, and Jen Leves, the girls missed qualifying for the tournament by one point.

Led by senior captains Jill McCoy, Amy Kavanaugh, and Kara Angeloni, the team beat Nantucket and advanced to the second round where they were defeated by Foxboro. Amy and Meg Barao highlighted the season by being the first girls at NHS to score 1000 points. Kaitlin Cox and Meg Barao took control down low while Jill McCoy and Briana Rinchusio held them on defense. Lynsey Fitzgerald ran the show, playing the point while Amy showed her shooting ability. Meghan O'Connor, Kelly Ennis, Amy Kavanaugh, and Tara Acton stepped up when they were needed. With the loss of five seniors, the Lady Clippers will have a rebuilding year.

Junior Varsity And Freshman Basketball

Hockey

The team was led by captain Chad Hunt and Chris "at the record store" MacNeil. Other valuable runners were Eric Bowman, Mark Mahoney, and Brian Morris. The freshmen also made a great contribution.

Girls Track
